1. INDUSTRY DEVELOPMENTS

The global pandemic COVID-19, we faced in the first quarter of 2020, has deeply affected the world and the aviation sector. In the second quarter of the year, within the scope of safety precautions against the coronavirus, so many countries closed their borders. In consequence, airlines suspended all or most of their flights except evacuation flights. Within this period, Turkish Airlines operated evacuation flights from 59 different countries. Turkey resumed domestic flights in June 1 after controlling the spread of the outbreak. As a result of countries' reopening their borders, international flights also resumed gradually. In this period, government initiated the implementation of short time working allowance in order to mitigate the adverse effects of the pandemic crisis. In addition, the pressure on demand has been slightly eased by reduction of VAT rate to 1% from 18% in domestic flights for a temporary period of three months. Turkish Airlines carried about 7 million passengers in the third quarter. Along with that, According to the European Organization for the Safety of Air Navigation (Eurocontrol), Turkish Airlines was the second operator with most of the flights in Europe.

Turkish Airlines partly compensates the shortage on the passenger side with a strong cargo transportation performance. The Incorporation has achieved to maintain its strong growth trend in the cargo market over the last decade and consequently, cargo revenue increased by 55% during the first nine months of 2020 and 60% during the third quarter of 2020. Turkish Airlines takes firm steps forward to be one of the largest air cargo carriers in the world by increasing its market share in the global air cargo market.
